SPONSORED BY PACIFICA GRADUATE INSTITUTE IN ASSOCIATION WITH OPUS ARCHIVES AND RESEARCH CENTER

As part of Pacifica's collaboration with the Eranos Foundation, we are pleased to offer two outstanding public programs in Switzerland this fall.

THE LEGACY TOUR from October 7–17, will take us from Zürich to Ascona and Eranos as we explore the origins, history, and significance of the life and work of C.G. Jung and its influence on the legacy of depth psychology. Robert Hinshaw, Jungian analyst and Daimon Verlag publisher, will be our tour guide on this extraordinary journey.

PSYCHE AND THE SACRED will take place at Eranos from October 20–24. In these unique and tranquil surroundings, Lionel Corbett, a Jungian analyst and Pacifica core faculty member, will lead us on personal explorations of a depth psychological approach to spirituality.

Space in both programs is limited, and we expect them to fill quickly. Please review this brochure and contact me if you have any questions.

Eranos Founder
Olga Fröbe-Kapteyn
and C.G. Jung

Pacifica Graduate Institute has joined with the Eranos Foundation in a partnership to renew the spirit of Eranos and expand its rich traditions. We hope Eranos will become a source of deepening and expanding vision, with nature's beauty and the presence of past wisdom inspiring all who come to this special place.

The name Eranos is derived from an ancient Greek word referring to a banquet where each guest brings contributions of food. It was founded as an intellectual discussion group in 1933 by Olga Fröbe-Kapteyn at her estate on the shore of Lake Maggiore near Ascona, Switzerland. Under the influence of C.G. Jung, the Eranos meetings moved toward the symbolic, archetypal, and mythological.

For more than 80 years, Eranos has been a point of contact for thinkers from such diverse fields as depth psychology, comparative religion, history, literary criticism, and folklore. This remarkable setting has seen many of the world's greatest visionaries gather to discuss important and far-ranging issues.

The Legacy Tour

ZÜRICH, EINSIEDELN, KÜSNACHT, ASCONA, AND ERANOS, SWITZERLAND

The tradition of depth psychology has a deep intellectual legacy.

Through an enduring lineage of writers, thinkers, philosophers and teachers, it reverberates within the places they gathered. So many among them—including C.G. Jung, Mircea Eliade, James Hillman, Joseph Campbell, Marie-Louise Von Franz, Karl Kerényi, and Henri Corbin—were drawn to the mountains, valleys, and lakes of Switzerland and northern Italy...to Zürich and to Ascona, the home of Eranos.

In honor of that legacy, we will embark on a pilgrimage from Zürich to the village of Ascona, exploring the origins, history, and significance of the life and work of C.G. Jung. Our tour guide will be Robert Hinshaw, Jungian analyst and long-time resident of Switzerland. Join us for this extraordinary journey and experience the legacy of depth psychology.

Monday, October 7 – Thursday, October 17, 2013

$3,975 per person

Limited to 30 Participants

32 Continuing Education Credits for MFTs, LCSWs, and RNs

The Legacy Tour begins with four days in Zürich and the surrounding areas. We will visit important sites in Jung's life, including the Psychology Club, the Jung Institute and Jung's house in Küsnacht, the Burghölzli Clinic, and others. There will be time to visit Zürich's museums, theatres, restaurants, and shops. We will also explore the picturesque Swiss village of Einsiedeln, birthplace of Paracelsus, and home of the Benedictine Monastery, the Black Madonna, and Daimon Verlag.

On the fifth day, we will travel to Ascona—on the shores of Lake Maggiore—for five days of lectures, discussion, dream circles, and culture at Eranos. At each stop throughout the tour we'll enjoy insightful lectures and discussions by noted Jungian analysts and scholars.

Program is subject to change.

Sunday, October 6 – Arrive in Zürich

We have reserved rooms at a wonderful historic hotel in the Niederdorf district of Old Town Zürich. During the day this area is a shopper's paradise with boutiques, beautiful old houses on the main streets, and a patchwork of fascinating alleys. At night cafés, bars, restaurants, and local artists turn it into an exciting entertainment center.

To accommodate different budgets, we have reserved a limited number of single, double, and triple rooms at special rates. Rates range from approximately 150 to 200 Swiss Francs per room, per night, and include breakfast, taxes, and service charges. One Swiss Franc (SFr.) is approximately equal to one US Dollar. There is an additional tax of SFr. 2.50 per person, per night.

Monday, October 7 in Zürich

The Legacy Tour kicks off with a Welcome Brunch. Then, we'll take a 10-minute walk to the Psychology Club, where Jung reformulated his theories of the psyche, collective unconscious, archetypes, individuation, and psychological types. In Jung's day, those interested in analytical psychology would meet at the Club, which became a model for other clubs around the world. While there, we will be introduced to the club and hear a presentation by Emmanuel Kennedy-Xypolitas.

Creativity, Analytical Psychology, and the Work of C.G. Jung and Marie-Louise von Franz

with Emmanuel Kennedy-Xypolitas

Essentially, creativity—or “createness”—is an activity of the Self, our ego being simply the mediator. More precisely, creativity is an activity that is produced by the efficacy of the spirit of the unconscious psyche. The unconscious is thus seen as the creative factor and innovator. Man or human consciousness is the medium, as it were, that carries out the creative urge, and in so doing realizes the hidden inner meaning intended by the Self, the irrational Creative. “Spirit” is understood in the sense of C.G. Jung as an autonomous, active force of the unconscious that generates ideas and thoughts, inspires, invents, and arranges images. Jung writes, “Man himself did not create the spirit, rather the spirit makes man creative, always spurring him on, giving him ideas...‘enthusiasm’ and ‘inspiration.’”

Emmanuel Kennedy-Xypolitas is a Jungian analyst living in Switzerland. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Psychological Club Zürich, the Foundation for Jungian Psychology, and the Swiss Foundation Museum for Analytical Psychology. He is the Literary Executor of Marie-Louise von Franz, Barbara Hannah, and Anne McGuire. His father knew and worked with Jung and von Franz, and was co-founder and president of the C.G. Jung Foundation in New York.

Tuesday, October 8 in Zürich

We'll travel by chartered bus to the Burghölzli Psychiatric Clinic located at the University of Zürich. This is where Jung worked after completing his medical studies. It is here that he was introduced to the work of Sigmund Freud, and began working with his first psychoanalytic patient. We will visit the clinic and hear a lecture by Robert Hinshaw.

Jung and the Burghölzli Psychiatric Clinic with Robert Hinshaw

The Burghölzli Psychiatric Clinic, affiliated with the University of Zürich, was an important station in Jung's life. He began working there as a young assistant doctor shortly after completing his medical studies in 1900, and departed as the Assistant Director under Professor Eugen Bleuler in 1909. It was Bleuler who introduced him to the work of Sigmund Freud, and started Jung on his Word Association Experiments, which eventually led to his theory of the complexes. His research had been designed to test Freud's ideas. It was in Burghölzli that Jung also began working with his first psychoanalytic patient, Sabina Spielrein, who not only recovered, but went on to become a psychiatrist herself, working with both Jung and Freud, and contributing original ideas to the psychoanalytic movement. This lecture will be held in the Aula, the hall where Jung often gave presentations during his Burghölzli years.

Robert Hinshaw, Ph.D., has lived and worked in Switzerland since the early 1970s. He began training at the old C.G. Jung Institute of Zürich (located in the Psychology Club building) and helped to run Spring Publications in its early years. The first generation Jungians were his teachers, and later his authors and friends. Today he is a training analyst/supervisor and faculty member at the Zürich Jung Institute, and publisher of Jungian and related literature at Daimon Verlag. He attended his first Eranos Conference in 1972, became a student member of the staff, and has maintained an active relationship with Eranos throughout the years.

Wednesday, October 9 in Einsiedeln

We'll take a morning train from Zürich to Einsiedeln, birthplace of Paracelsus and home of the Black Madonna, the Benedictine Monastery, and Damion Verlag. At the Abbey of Einsiedeln, Switzerland's greatest pilgrimage shrine, we will tour the monastery library and impressive medieval cathedral.

Einsiedeln is a special town, so we've allowed time for lunch and exploration. Pick up fruit, bread, and cheese for a picnic, or settle into a café. After lunch, we'll enjoy a lecture by Alfred Ribi. The day ends with a visit to Daimon Verlag, a well-known Jungian publisher, where Robert Hinshaw will host a late afternoon wine reception before we take the evening train back to Zürich.

Jung, Paracelsus, and Einsiedeln

with Alfred Ribi

"He who is born in imagination discovers the latent forces of Nature... Besides the stars that are established, there is yet another—Imagination—that begets a new star and a new heaven." —Paracelsus

Born in the Swiss village of Einsiedeln, Theophrast Bombast von Hohenheim, or Paracelsus, is best known as the father of modern medicine and one of the original alchemists. His work was of great interest to Jung, who delivered a presentation, Paracelsus as a Spiritual Phenomenon, at the monastery in Einsiedeln in 1941. In this lecture, Jung spoke about how the landscape in Einsiedeln—much wilder than it is today—impregnated Paracelsus' character and influenced his work. "He was as hard as the rocks to be found there, as wild as the nature, as uncivilized as the surroundings, full of spirits of nature and demons of the weather." This presentation will draw correlations between Jung, Paracelsus, and Einsiedeln, illustrating how Paracelsus drew many of his insights from the unconscious.

Alfred Ribi, M.D., is a medical doctor and Jungian analyst who lives in Switzerland. Specializing in psychiatry, he received his diploma from the C.G. Jung Institute of Zürich, where he was also Director of Studies from 1969-71. He is the author of a dozen books and a member of the Swiss Paracelsus Society.

Thursday, October 10 in Küsnacht

We'll travel by chartered bus along the eastern shore of Lake Zürich to Küsnacht, the suburb where Jung lived and died. We will tour the historic C.G. Jung Institute of Zürich with Barbara Weskamp, President of the Curatorium, and Renate Daniel, Director of Training, and hear a lecture by Vicente Luis de Moura. There will also be a visit to Jung's house and grave.

The evening will be free with time for dinner on our own after our return to Zürich.

The Visions Seminar: The Case of Christiana Morgan with Vicente Luis de Moura

The Picture Archives of the C.G. Jung Institute of Zürich is the home of over 4,000 pictures created by patients of C.G. Jung and other important Jungian analysts. Through Jung's encouragement to express their psychic world in paintings, Jung launched his patients on a pilgrimage of archetypal encounters in a quest for psychological integration. These images offer an unprecedented view of how Jung worked and the effect of his technique in the development of the psyche. During our visit to the Institute, Vicente de Moura will share one of the best-documented cases in the Archives, the visions of Christiana Morgan in her analysis with C.G. Jung in the 1920s. Using active imagination, she went through a deep encounter with her unconscious—an initiation process to her underworld and met chthonic gods. She later put her fantasies in a book, which could be called a female version of the Red Book.

Vicente Luis de Moura is psychologist and training analyst. He graduated in 1999 at the C.G. Jung Institute in Zürich, where he works as Curator of the Picture Archives. Former President of the Susan Bach Foundation and member of the SGAP (Swiss Society for Analytical Psychology), he works as an analyst and psychotherapist in Zürich.

The House of C.G. Jung

Located on the shore of Lake Zürich in Küsnacht, the house on Seestrasse was built by C.G. Jung and Emma Rauschenbach in 1909. He lived there until his death in 1961. The house is still occupied by Jung's grandson, Andreas, and his wife, Verena. Above the door, chiseled in stone, is a Latin verse of a Delphic oracle: Called or uncalled, God will be present. We will explore the grounds and visit Jung's library and study, where the books are still arranged as Jung originally had them and his desk is as he left it.

Friday, October 11 Zürich to Ascona

Our chartered bus will leave the hotel at 1:00 pm for the three-hour drive to Ascona, where you will have previously booked a room of your choice. In order to offer accommodations fitting different budgets, we have reserved single and double rooms at four hotels which are all near one another. Rates range from SFr. 110 to SFr. 425 per room, per night. (1 SFr. is approximately equal to 1 US Dollar) Rates include breakfast, taxes, and service charges.

Saturday, October 12 in Ascona

Sleep in or explore Ascona. This colorful former fishing village is a favorite with artists and an important cultural venue. Blessed with an exceptional climate, Ascona is on a long, narrow lake called Lago Maggiore. Its shores are dotted with sandy beaches and great green meadows.

In the evening we will gather for a welcome dinner at a local cafe in Ascona. This transitional time will give us a chance to reminisce about our northern journey and anticipate the week ahead.

Sunday, October 13– Thursday, October 17 in Ascona and Eranos

Every morning we will travel via shuttle to Eranos. Our program will focus on the archetypal factors at work in the world, and will include presentations, conversations, and excursions led by European scholars and Pacifica's faculty.

There will be mid-morning and afternoon refreshments each day, and a two-hour lunch break with a lavish buffet. You will have ample time to swim in the lake or sit in casual conversation at the round table where Jung, Eliade, Kerényi, Neumann, and others established their ideas and forged relationships. Review the following pages for details on the presentations at Eranos.

Late each afternoon, we will return to Ascona in time to enjoy the sunset, a drink with friends, and a delicious meal at one of the town's many restaurants.

On the final evening of the Legacy Tour, Thursday, October 17, we will gather for a special closing banquet in the private garden of a historic hotel.

Sunday, October 13 at Eranos

Eranos: A Vision and its Realization with Robert Hinshaw

How did the Eranos Conferences come to be? Who was Olga Fröbe-Kapteyn, and what led her to found the entity that became known as Eranos? What significant events took place here, and who were the key players? What was Jung's role and how was he stimulated by his experiences there? What role have the Eranos Conferences played in the world of Jungian Psychology? What have its guiding principles been? This presentation will address such questions, and help us orient ourselves in this beautiful and historic space.

James Hillman and Reflections on the Senex and Puer with Safron Rossi

The Senex and Puer are central archetypal figures in James Hillman's psychology. This lecture will explore their presence in a number of valences. This includes deepening our sense of the Senex and Puer styles of consciousness through mythic figures, reflecting on the presence of these figures in his writing, and finally how this pair is present and archetypally necessary to an archive, and Hillman's in particular. Safron Rossi spent three years working with James Hillman on his collection, and will share her essay "From Attic to Basement and In-between" which records her experiences with him.

Safron Rossi, Ph.D., is Curator of Collections at Opus Archives & Research Center, home of the Joseph Campbell and James Hillman manuscript and archival collections. She is also Associate Core Faculty at Pacifica Graduate Institute, teaching courses on mythology and depth psychology. Her writing and scholarly studies focus on archetypal psychology, the western astrological tradition, goddess traditions, and feminist studies.

Monday, October 14 at Eranos

Dreaming Jung's Legacy Forward: Dream Tending at Eranos

with Stephen Aizenstat

Dream workers of the 21st Century pay homage to Carl Jung by carrying his insights forward. The "heartbeat" of Dream Tending, Dr. Stephen Aizenstat's orientation to dreams, is the recognition that dream images are alive. In this session, he will introduce Dream Tending as a system of healing that is useful in working with the concerns of personal life as well as the world soul. Dr. Aizenstat will elaborate on the idea that images are alive and, at root, elemental...part of Nature's Dreaming. In the beautiful, tradition-steeped setting of Eranos, he will invite participants to gather in dream circles where they will learn to experience dream images as living, embodied beings, engaged in their own activities.

Stephen Aizenstat, Ph.D., is the Chancellor and founding president of Pacifica Graduate Institute. He is a Clinical Psychologist, a Marriage Family Therapist, and a credentialed schoolteacher and counselor. Dr. Aizenstat's Dream Tending methods extend dream work to the vision of an animated world where the living images in dreams are experienced as embodied and originating in the psyche of Nature as well as persons. His book, Dream Tending, describes multiple applications of dreamwork.

Fate, Free Will, and Destiny: The Self as Spiritus Rector with Lionel Corbett

According to Jung, free will means doing gladly and freely that which one must do, and that without freedom there can be no morality. This presentation will discuss Jung's idea that the Self is a guiding spirit in the personality, and that the personality has a specific destiny. We will look at traditional ideas of fate, destiny, and free will from antiquity to modern times, including the views of other depth psychologists, philosophers, and existentialists. We will discuss Jung's stress on the importance of vocation as "fidelity to the law of one's own being."

Lionel Corbett, M.D., trained in medicine and psychiatry in England and as a Jungian analyst at the C.G. Jung Institute of Chicago. He is a faculty member at Pacifica teaching depth psychology. He is the author of Psyche and the Sacred: Spirituality Beyond Religion, The Religious Function of the Psyche, and The Sacred Cauldron: Psychotherapy as a Spiritual Practice.

Tuesday, October 15 at Eranos and in the Swiss Countryside

Jung and Nature: The Nourishing Life of the Soul with Willow Young

This presentation explores Jung's experience of being Swiss, his lifelong engagement with the natural world, his study of the Natural Sciences, the emergence of late 19th century scientific thinking, and the dreams that decided his course of study in medicine, psychiatry, and the exploration of the unconscious. We will listen, as Jung did, with two ears—to the metaphorical image of Nature and to the actual physical world of the natural sciences and physics. Jung writes, "Without my piece of earth, my life's work would not have come into being." We will reflect on Jung's antidote to the loss of contact with Nature—that is, to listen deeply to Nature, by paying close attention to our dreams and inner figures and cultivating the sensibilities of leisure by simply sitting and allowing "Nature to affect us."

Willow Young, M.A., L.M.F.T., is a core faculty member and Chair of Pacifica's Counseling Psychology Program. She is a Jungian analyst member of the C.G. Jung Study Center of Southern California. In her research of the archetype of the feminine, she explored the foundational value of nature to the individuation process. She is researching Jung's volumes and seminars, including The Red Book.

In the Footsteps of Jung: Walking the Alpine Hills with Willow Young and Roberto Buffi

With the morning's musings in mind, we will trace Jung's sojourns on an ancient path from Ascona to Arcegno and back, letting Nature and the Swiss countryside affect us. We will shuttle from Eranos to Arcegno, where we will have lunch and gather with Dr. Roberto Buffi, a forest engineer and founder of the Forest Education Centre in Arcegno. A moderate two-mile hike will take us to a meadow often visited by Carl and Emma Jung. There will be opportunities to relax, write, and sketch. On the return walk, we will enjoy traditional cuisine in a local Grotto.

Roberto Buffi, Ph.D., is a forest engineer with a Ph.D. in Natural Sciences. As Forest Inspector in Locarno, Switzerland, Dr. Buffi promoted the first forest reserves in the Canton of Ticino, and founded the Forest Education Center in Arcegno. He is a candidate in analytic training at the Research and Training Center for Depth Psychology in Zürich.

Wednesday, October 16 at Eranos

Joseph Campbell, C.G. Jung, and the Symbol Without Meaning

with Safron Rossi

Joseph Campbell's 1957 Eranos presentation, "The Symbol Without Meaning," is a radical response to the ideas in Jung's 1934 presentation "Archetypes of the Collective Unconscious." The central theme is the problem of original experience of the archetypal realm and the meaning-making function that comes through inherited mythologies, symbolic traditions, and dogmas. This question about the function of inherited symbols and mythologies versus the experience of the new symbols applies to one of the epic questions of our day—what is the new myth that is emerging for the globe? While Jung and Campbell cannot tell us what it is, this lectures show a way of engaging the question by means of living the question.

See page 11 for Safron Rossi's biographical information.

Rereading Jung after The Red Book

with Sonu Shamdasani

Liber Novus, or Jung's Red Book, published in 2009, shed new light on Jung and his life's work. This seminar presents an introduction to rereading Jung after The Red Book—considering the works that came after, in the light of what preceded and gave rise to them, and through the mutual illumination of Jung's private and public opus. Participants are asked to read The Red Book: A Reader's Edition and C.G. Jung: A Biography in Books prior to the program.

Sonu Shamdasani is Philemon Professor of Jung History at University College London. He is the author and editor of numerous works, including The Red Book, C.G. Jung: A Biography in Books, and, with James Hillman, The Lament of the Dead: Psychology After Jung's Red Book (forthcoming in August, 2013).

Thursday, October 17 at Eranos

Mirror of the Present: The I Ching, Jung, and Eranos with Shantena Augusto Sabbadini

"The I Ching is a formidable psychological system that endeavours to organize the play of archetypes into a pattern, so that a reading becomes possible." —C.G. Jung

The I Ching is an ancient Chinese oracle, rooted in a shamanic tradition almost four thousand years old. It exerted an important influence on C.G. Jung and particularly on his introducing the notion of synchronicity. Drawing on The Original I Ching Oracle, translated by Rudolf Ritsema and Shantena Sabbadini, this session will explore the origins and development of the I Ching oracle and its psychological use in the Eranos Round Table Sessions. We will also take a look at some interesting insights opened up by the application of the Eranos approach to the I Ching to another Chinese classic, the Tao Te Ching. Participants interested in exploring the practice of I Ching consultation in greater depth will be able to do so in individual sessions with Shantena Sabbadini.

Shantena Augusto Sabbadini worked as a theoretical physicist at the University of Milan, Italy, and the University of California. He was involved in research on the foundations of quantum physics and in the first identification of a black hole. In the 1990s and early 2000s he helped organize the Eranos Round Table Sessions and lectured at Eranos about the I Ching, physics, and philosophy. He is Associate Director of the Pari Center for New Learning in Tuscany, Italy. For more information on his work, visit www.shantena.com.
